¹Also complete section A using only the individual's income.

²Ineligible child's allowance equals the difference between the federal SSI standard for an individual and the SSI standard for a couple. If the ineligible spouse's income is less than this amount, deeming does not apply and the CAPI payment will be based on the individual's own income under section A.

³If the ineligible spouse is receiving assistance based on need, deeming does not apply and the CAPI payment will be based on the individual's own income under section A.
